EPISCOPAL CHURCH NAME TO STAND.

Committeemen in Report to Boston Convention Will Say Present Change Is Inexpedient.

DESIRE ALTERATION.

Bishop Tuttle and Six Others, However, Maintain That Present Title Is No Hindrance to Progress.

Borton, May 7.—The committee of fifteen which was appointed by the National Triennial Convention of the Episcopal Church at San Francisco in 1501 to consider the advisability of changing the legal name of the denomination has prepared an ex-tended report, in which the opinion is expressed that any change at this time is

The report is to be submitted to the general convention, which will assemble in this city next October. The committee will ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

The report is signed by all fifteen members of the committee, although three appendices, one signed by seven members, a ond signed by five, and a third by one, are attached.; The second appendix rec-ommends that the words Protestant Episcapal on the title page of the book of comprayer be stricken off.

Although, officially, party lines were not drawn in the investigation of the sentiment in all of the seventy-eight dioceses and missionary districts, a change was enerally favored by the high-church party, and with one or two exceptions the ty, and with one of the committee, while agreeing on the report itself, divided on the supplementary state-

ORIGIN OF DEBATE.

At the San Francisco convention the dio-cese of Milwaukee presented a memorial requesting that the name "Protestant opal Church" be changed to that of "American Catholic Church in the United States." The request was not passed ted States." The request was not passed upon directly by the convention, but a committee of five Bishops, five priests and five laymen was appointed to ascertain the mind of the church and report to the Boston convention.

The first appendix to the report is signed by Bishops Daniel S. Tuttle of Missouri, George W. Peterkin of West Virginia and David H. Greer of New York, the Reverend S. S. Moore of Parkersburg, West Virginia; Arthur J. C. Sowden of Boston; Francis A. Lewis and Joseph Packard.

They observe that the present name can hardly be considered as a hindrance to growth, since all growth has been in connection with the name. With respect to the objection that the catholic character of the church is obscured in the eyes of other catholic communiors by the name, it is said: "Our relations with the cold-Catholics have not been strained by reason of the title and in view of the late Pope's denial of the validity of our orders, a mere change of name is not likely to change the attitude of the See of Rome toward us."

the Reverend George McClelland Fisk, D. D., of Providence; Bishop Coadjutor-elect of Springfield, the Reverend B. Talbot Rogers of Fond-du-Lac, Wis.; W. L. Grithouse of Milwaukee and Daniel B. Jaman. They say:

The indications shown are most abundant that the majority of our Bishops, the street of the same of the street of the same of the s tian world. It is a wall of separation on the one hand against our Roman brethren and on the other differentiates us from the non-Episcopal brethren. It is to us humiliating that we must forever be measuring our longitude from the Pope of Rome as the meridian and our polity be made disproportionately prominent in the eyes of our fellow Christians at every mention of the name."

of our fellow Christians at every mention of the name."

The statement concludes with the suggestion that the Boston convention enact legislation by which the words "Protestant Episcopal" shall be eliminated from the title page of the prayer-book until such time as the people can be brought to favor a suitable legal designation.

The third statement, which is brief, is signed by the Reverend John H. Egar of Rome, N. Y., and suggests that the name be changed to that of "The Church of the United States of America." The two remaining members of the committee, Bishops John Scurborough of New Jersey and W. A. Leonard of Ohlo, make no suggestions.

tions. I ben't did come to suggestions. In New England the diocese of New Hampshire was the only one to vote for an immediate change, although the clergy of Vermont expressed a similar opinion and the laity favored a correction at some future time. The large Eastern dioceses were opposed to any correction at present, but the high-church strongholds of the West held opposite views.

HIGHER EDUCATION REALLY HELPFUL

Statistics Show College Graduates Conspicuous by Their Successes in Life.

SELF-TAUGHT INCONSPICUOUS.

These Conclusions Arrived at After Classification of More Than 10,000 Eminent Living Americans.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

New York, May 7.—In the annual report of the United States Commissioner of Education, now being compiled, will ap-pear a sheet of statistics showing to what extent higher education affects success in Particularly it shows the pre-eminenof the A. B. degree man among the suc-cessful, and the inconspicuousness of the self-educated.

The standard of success to which the educational statistics are applied is that which constitutes eligibility to the ranks of the ten thousand or so persons includ-ed in "Who's who in America?"—that is, according to the editors, "the most not-able in all departments of usefulness and reputable endeavor."

These men have all reported the scope and method of their education.

The United States Bursau of Education divided the 14.794.603 males over 30 years old in the United States according to the last census into four educational classes, as follows:

Class 1. Without education, 1.757.623.

Class 2. With only common-school training or trained outside of organized schools, 12.664.325.

Class 3. With regular high-school training added, 677.432.

Class 4. With college or higher education added, 255.632.

Omitting those few who are under 30 years old. says this report, the statements from 10.749 notables show that they include: Without education, none: self-taught, 24; home-taught, 255; with common-school training only, 1.655, with high-school training, 1.637; with college training, 7.700, of whom 6129 were graduates. That is:

From 1809 to 1870 the uneducated boy in the United States failed entirely to become so notable in any department of usefulness and reputable entravor 25 to attract the attention of the "Who's who" editors and that only 24 self-taught men succeeded.

A boy with ony a common-school edu-succeeded.

A boy with ony a common-school education had, in round numbers, one chance in 9,000. A high-school training increased this chance nearly 22 times.

College education added gave the young man about 10 times the chance of a high-school boy and 20 times the chance of the boy whose training stopped with the common school.

The A B graduate and proceedings to the common school.

boy whose training stopped with the common school.

The A. B. graduate was pre-eminently successful, and the self-educated man was inconspicuous.

"From the nature of the case." concludes the compiler, "it cannot be claimed that these classifications are exact, but they are based upon the fullest statistics ever obtained, and the necessary estimates have been made by Government experts. It is also doubtless true that other circumstances contributed to the success of these trained men, but after all reasonable allowances are made the figures force the conclusion that the more school training the American boy of that period had, the greater were his chances of distinction.

"It is unnecessary to extend this inquiry to woman." he says in conclusion. "Education is practically her only door to eminence."

ANOTHER EXCURSION LAUNCH. River Craft.

The steam launch Ida Patton of the Ida Patton Tow Company has been over-hauled and added to the colony of pleas-hauled and added to the colony of pleasure and excursion craft of the Mississippi River at St. Louis.

The swift little steamer, which has a comfortable carry capacity of forty passengers, is engaged just now in making hourly trips from the wharfboat at the foot of Pine street to the gunboat Nashville and the torpedo-boat destroyer Lawrence, which are anchored in the river and probably will be open to the inspection of the public this week, beginning to-day. Capitain J. M. Conners is in charge and Miss C. R. Daly is secretary of the company.

The Ida Patton has been in the tow business on the river for about ten years, but this is the first time it has been in commission as an excursion steamer. It has been newly painted, covered and generally reconstructed, and its owners anticipate an excellent business, especially during the World's Fair period. It has carried a great many persons to the warships since they have been here, and if the vessels are open for public inspection, as expected, the Ida Patton will handle a large share of the visitors.
